

Dr. Jörg Habenicht

“In times of constant change, organizations need one thing in particular: the closeness and connection to their inner fire.”

Current positions and responsibilities

- Member of the osb international
- Consulting by designing and implementing customized learning architectures
- Mission statements and strategic development in multinational organizations
- Commissioned lecturer at universities of Kassel (Appreciative Inquiry) and Klagenfurt (Group dynamics)

Recent consulting activities

- Management training in the areas of conflict, leadership, project management, and “leadership through performance reviews”
- Facilitation of large group events, retreats, and workshops
- Conceptual design and implementation of yearlong executive academies
- Development of a sales concept and implementation of an additional training concept in the international solar energy sector
- Expert in the interpretation of large-group potential assessments

Professional background

- Studies in sports sciences, University of Vienna
- Doctorate in philosophy and group dynamics, University of Klagenfurt;
- “Appreciative Inquiry” based systemic consulting approach, National Training Laboratories, NTL, Bethel, Maine, USA
- Ethnomethodological conversation analysis according to Garfinkel & Sacks, Dr. Jörg Bergmann, University of Bielefeld
- Psychohistory and Group-Fantasy Analysis: Jerry Atlas, PhD and Lloyd de Mause, PhD, Institute for Psychohistory, New York, NY, USA
- Member of the Austrian Society for Group Dynamics and Organizational Consulting (ÖGGO)
- Team leader at the FIS Ski World Cup and FIM Motorcycle World Cup
- Published works: “Die Gruppe als Lern- und Erfahrungssystem” and “Psycho- und Soziodynamik im Spitzensport” Grin Publishing Munich

“Placing the focus on enthusiasm and past successes, and using this as a basis for additional optimization guarantees the highest commitment of the organization and ensures success-oriented realization.”

Dr. Jörg Habenicht